MeetOnFit is a platform that lets people doing sports and personal trainers find each other and work together. In order to be successful, we need a well-designed website that is appealing to our clients. Mobile Reality has developed the whole graphic layout of the website, making it easy and understandable to use, and at the same time active and motivating to exercise. They have introduced well-functioning front-end solutions (implementation of graphics, business logic) and back-end application (servers and database system), which lets the customer experience a fast-running and non-lagging website. We recommend Mobile Reality to anyone in need of a professionally-designed platform.
