We hired Mobile Reality SP z.o.o to build a new online platform for our company. The project had very tight deadlines. I'm very happy to say that Mateusz and his team delivered in a big way - working with them couldn't have been easier. They are consummate software development professionals, knowledgeable on the latest technologies and frameworks and producing software using modern agile software development methodologies.

Being based in Poland, having regular check-ins with them during North American business hours was never an issue and they were very responsive to feedback, sometimes making revisions and updates by the next day if not sooner.

I value their honesty, punctuality and attention to detail they brought to the task as well as the creativity and innovative thinking – something not common in my experience when working with outside development shops.

I would recommend them highly to any company that is looking for a reliable software development partner.
